

Here's a tiny selection of plants to attract wildlife

TREES AND HEDGES

Hawthorn, Holly, Rowan, Hazel, Crab Apple, Apple, Yew

CLIMBERS

Ivy, Hop, Wild Honeysuckle, Rambling Rose

SHRUBS

Berberis, Hebe, Rosemary, Juniper

FLOWERS

Lavender, Echinacea, Hemp-agrimony, Iceplant, Marjoram

Check out these websites for lots of good ideas and advice:

wildlifetrusts.org/gardening

rspb.org.uk

rhs.org.uk

wlgf.org

buglife.org.uk

If you would like to get more involved locally in wildlife conservation visit:

www.mwhg.org.uk

www.transitionchichester.org

Thinking of things further afield

When out and about exploring please be aware of the disturbance that you and your pets can cause to wildlife.

Let nature improve your garden

Create a wildlife haven

GOOD for birds, bees, butterflies and bats

GOOD for your children

GOOD for you

GOOD for the planet

Thanks to Adrian Thomas [Wildlife Gardening Forum] for his advice.

Why do it?

Here's some good reasons

- 🌿 Wildlife is under threat, including once common creatures.
- 🌿 Their habitat, places to find food and raise young, is disappearing. Gardens can help rebalance this loss.
- 🌿 We need wildlife for pollination of food plants and to keep down pests, indeed our very survival depends on wildlife.
- 🌿 Wildlife gardening is more relaxed, it is good for our well-being and will bring joy and interest to you and your family.

It doesn't matter how large or small your space is, we can all make a difference.

Here's some good ideas to start things off:

- 🌿 Put in a pond
- 🌿 Plant a small native tree, bush or even a hedge
- 🌿 Fill the garden with plants, including nectar-rich climbers and bee-friendly flowers
- 🌿 Allow the grass to grow taller in places
- 🌿 Form a logpile or stickpile
- 🌿 Make holes in fences for hedgehogs

- 🌿 Put up bird and bat nesting boxes
- 🌿 Put up insect houses
- 🌿 Put up a birdfeeder
- 🌿 Leave seedheads on over winter
- 🌿 Go chemical-free
- 🌿 Leave some corners less tidy
- 🌿 Get the family involved
- 🌿 Record your wildlife online at iRecord

Relax, observe, enjoy

You deserve it you've done something good